Iraqi Dinar vs. USD

Politics:

- Iraq's Cabinet has decided to ask the U.S. for changes to the draft agreement that would keep American troops here three more years, as key Shiite lawmakers warned the deal stands little chance of approval as it stands.
- Iraqi Prime Minister Nuri al-Maliki has said that Baghdad and London would begin negotiating a security deal to decide the future of British forces in the country beyond 2008.
- Kuwait's first ambassador to Baghdad since Iraq conquered the tiny country in 1990 formally took office this week, joining a growing list of envoys from Arab states strengthening ties with the Shi'ite-led government.
- The U.S. have relinquished control of Babil, a southern province that includes Sunni areas once known as the "triangle of death," handing security responsibility to the Iraqi government.
- According to Iraq's interior minister, Iraq's neighbours, including Syria and Iran, are doing a better job of stopping the flow of people and money linked to insurgent violence across their borders.

Economy:

- The Prime Minister of the Kurdistan Regional Government Nechirvan Barzani has revealed that his region is currently able to export 100,000 barrels per day of crude oil.
- Iraq exported more than 49 million barrels of crude oil in September, according to the Iraqi Ministry of Oil.
- Iraq's 2009 budget may be reduced by up to $15 billion due to falling oil prices, according to a member of parliament.
- A deal to cancel the remaining balance of Iraq's external debts has been approved by the International Monetary Fund, a media source from the Iraqi Ministry of Finance has said.
- The UAE have become the biggest source of foreign investment for Kurdistan, since the announcement by Damac Properties of a US$4.5bn development outside Erbil started a wave of investment by UAE companies.
